Each Warrior wants to leave the mark of his will,

his signature,

on important acts he touches.
This is not the voice of ego
but of the human spirit,
rising up and declaring that it has something to contribute to the solution of the hardest problems,

no matter how vexing!

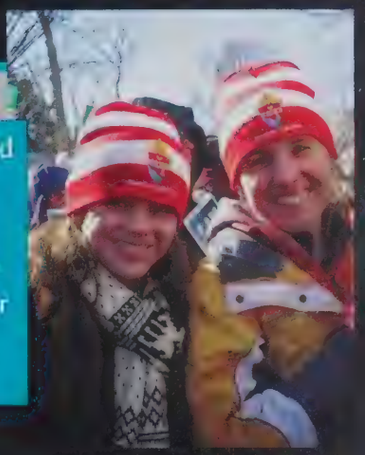
KNIGHTS GIVE BACK

BY:NICOLE BOURGEOIS

Each year, the students of Marian High School participate in multiple service events that give back to the community. Whether it be helping out at Hannah's House, volunteering at the homeless shelter, marching on the March For Life, or even participating with Habitat For Humanity there are many ways that you can show your true catholic identity here at Marian. Marian is proud to be apart of such a great community that is able to support and reach out to those who are in desperate need for it. We are proud of releasing our Catholic identity of service and generosity to those who need it most.

Colleen Vogel, Hanna Hough, Gabrielle Bittner, and Libby Wuske gather in Washington D.C. as they protest being pro-life.

Meghan Sink and Elizabeth Asdell campaign to stop abortion.



Lexi Loma and Marita Chuestack smile during the March For Life.

1) Morgan Talos donates a toy during Toys for Tots.
2) Valerie Renyolds and Christina Crosstick hang out with a child.
3) Mallory Spiess, Victoria Micola, and Meg Becker help with decorating.
4) Marian football players help with Toys for Tots.
5) Bridget VerVaet helps a child with a craft.

Godspell is a play that I have wanted to direct in my 42 years of working in the theatre. I never felt that the time, place or talent available was right. I felt that the convergence of these three things might be Marian High School Theatre and I was correct. Take a local Catholic high school theatre group; add the musical Godspell and a get a fantastic faith, fun filled musical production! The musical Godspell is based upon the Gospel according to Matthew. The Marian students act out the gospel with all of the faith that is discovered in their hearts. The experience has been one of a journey of faith for cast, crew and the directors. "There were times that the director of music, Colleen Pingel, and I have looked at each other in awe of the experience of watching these students demonstrate their love of God".

Working with these talented students has been a joy and I look forward to next year's productions.

To the parents of the cast and crew, thank you for loaning your children for this production. Each and every one of us in this production has come away with a stronger faith and love for our fellow man.

Thank you!

Craig A. Parmley, Marian High School Theatre Director

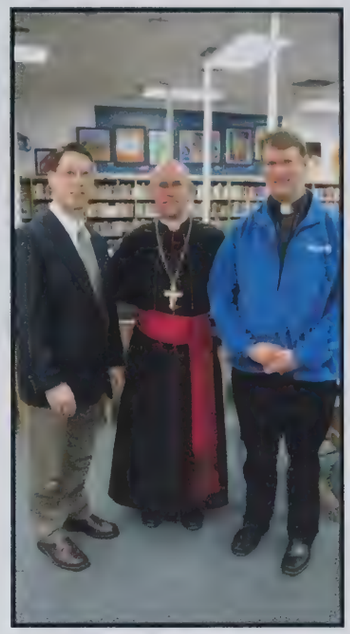
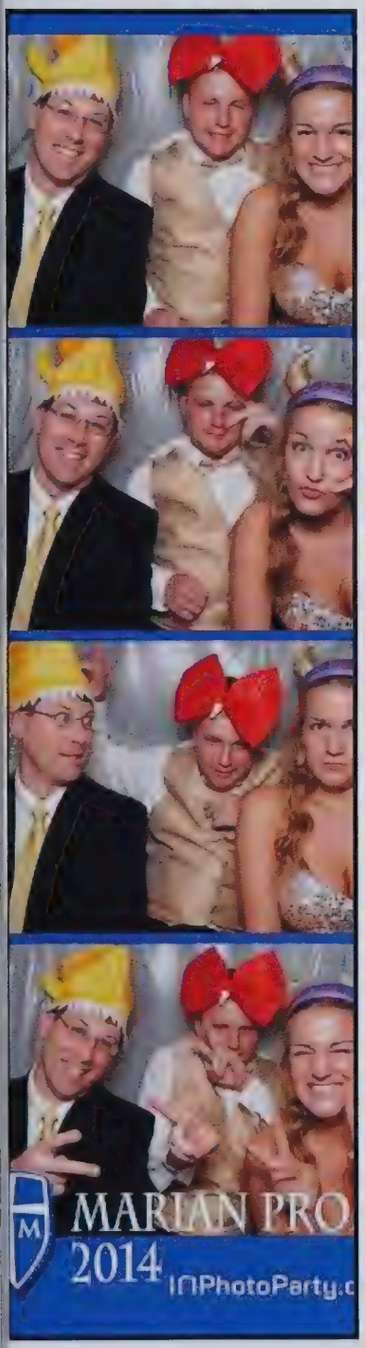
A Tribute to Carl Loesch:



To Principal Loesch,

It has been evident to me from the moment that I had met you, that you have an air of leadership about you. The role of principal must have been one that you naturally assumed. There have been many changes in even my four years, and I believe that many of these occurred because of the driving force that you gave to the movements.

You all have been told "Actions speak louder than words", and I think this is true in the case of Principal Loesch. He not only gives great advice and insight, but will also commit himself fully as both a strong leader and a servant leader. I truly believe that Mr. Loesch will do most anything for someone who sincerely asks for his assistance. There are few people who can claim to be servant leaders, and we have had the honor to have been served by one of them.



Recently, I have read that there are seven leadership foundations to a great leader.

1.Identification –A leader must know who he or she is, especially weaknesses and strengths. A good leader must be honest about both.

2.Clarification – Know the end goal and what you want to accomplish.

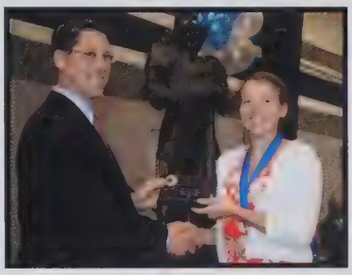
3.Motivation – Know who you are trying to do something for, or why you are doing something.

4.Collaboration – Work with a team to accomplish greater goals. Value each member for what they bring.

5.Concentration – Focus on what is important, and keep that focused drive.

6.Meditation – Listen to God and reflect on the actions that you have made.

7.Relaxation – Take time off to recharge and perform your best.



Mr Loesch knows his strengths and weaknesses and through that acknowledgment is a better leader. He knows his goals and what he is trying to accomplish. He knows why he is doing what he is doing. It is easy to see that he has gathered a great team around him to work with and to bolster his leadership potential. He is focused on what is important, and strives to do the best. Mr. Loesch is also a religiously centered leader who looks to God for guidance and reflects on what he has achieved, or not achieved. He may be lacking in the Relaxation portion, but hey, there is always time!

These are the seven foundations of the Leadership of Christ as stated by the Christian Post, and it is an honor for us to have a leader so capable. Proverbs 11:14 says, "Without wise leadership a nation is in trouble." I hope and pray that Marian may find a Leader as wise and capable as our dear Captain.

Sincerely, The "Other" Lesh (Brady Lesh)
Student Body President, 2014
